COTTON MARKETS

After Slight Dip Market Recovers Moderately-Conditions Are Good.

Saturday Afternoon, Nov. 2. Apparently the bear crowd thought aution wise in the market during the hort session, for after an opening at a ow marks for the movement, there was some support and a recovery. The ound, but buying power was limited and some of the gains were lost. Fintil points up in New York. In New Orleans, which was closed yesterday, finals were steady and from 91 to 104 points net to the bad. Liverpool is due come unchanged to 5 points higher on Monday.

News developments over night were not such as to justify any marked change in the market, but there was growing sentiment in favor of the buying side on the theory that the decane had been overdone and was largely predicated on things other than assured facts. Advices from Washington and that reports of mills having large ind been overdone and was largely or 21 to 104 points.

There was also a report that some buying in the market was for the French government commission or the purpose of fixing the price on a we material which is needed. The support of certain large spot interests suggested that the lower level was considered more safe and that the decline had gone far enough until there is more assurance of Southern spot holders being ready to give up and make no fight. Weather was favorable in the best clear and cool, with light frosts in the upper central and castern sections prevailing. Indications were for fair and warmer, except cooler and possibly root in the upper for the eastern belt.

NEW YORK Nov. 2.—After opening steady at a decline of 4 to 23 points under a continuation of the recent selling movement, the cotton marked showed a disposition to steady on covering for over the week end and the further technical position. There was active buying of January, believed to be for the account of the French commission, and reports on frosts in the South also promoted the covering movement, but there was still a good deal of bearish talk around the ring and buiges were not fully maintained. All months made new low ground at the copening, with December at 26.50 and January at 26.00. The early rally carried December up to 27.12 and January to 26.24, or about 12 to 77 points net higher.

December sold later at 27.22 and January at 25.57, with active months generally showing net gains of 24 to 50 points on covering and trade buying. This buige met considerable scalaiored selling, however, and fluctuations were irregular in the late trading, with the

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 2.—Wide declines, in response to the alump in New York yeaterday, featured the opening of the cotten market today. The active months lost 135 to 152 points in the first half hour of business. Cold weather over the belt steadied the market at the decline.

Week-end realizing by shorts and a moderate volume of fresh buying for long account caused a reaction from the decline. Late in the day prices were 50 to 55 points up from the bottom.
